SUPPORT THE 'DAY OF THE ENDANGERED LAWYER'

Why?

The immediate cause for starting off the Day of the Endangered Lawyer was a fact finding mission to the Philippines in 1990, where lawyers, as in many more countries, are being intimidated, threatened and even killed because they support their clients in legal cases that are 'politically complicated'.

Iran was the first country to be the subject of the Day of the Endangered Lawyer in 2010. Turkey, Basque Country, Colombia, the Philippines and Honduras were in focus in the following years.

How?

On Wednesday January 24, 2017 attention will be focused on the situation of the human rights lawyers in Egypt.

That day lawyers will come to action in as many cities as possible in and outside of Europe. From Ankara to Brussels, Toronto and Brisbane. One petition containing an identical text will be written and presented that day to as many ambassadors, consuls or other authorities of Egypt as possible. The petition will focus on the problematical situation of the threatened lawyers in that country.

If possible this situation will also be discussed with official representatives of Egypt. Furthermore on that day forum discussions will be organized for which fellow lawyers (e.g. from Egypt) will be invited.

Your support

Support the struggle for lawyers that are being harassed, silenced, put under pressure, threatened, persecuted, tortured and some of whom even disappear or are being killed just because they hold on to their professional obligations and standards, and put them into practice.
